Great River Rescue EUTHANASIA PROTOCOL POLICY

Based on the following categories, it is the policy of Great River Rescue that:

Adoption Potential

Animals that, given the space, time, staff, money or availability of an appropriate home could live well in a new home will not be euthanized.

Medical

Animals with medical issues that can be treated without prolonging suffering, and can be properly quarantined as necessary to prevent the spread of disease will not be euthanized.

Physical Condition

Animals in general poor overall condition and/or health who can be medically rehabilitated will not be euthanized.

Unweaned – Too Young

Animals that are too young to survive on their own or in a shelter setting, needing extensive care and socialization will not be euthanized. Foster homes will be sought for care.

Breed

Breed of animals will not be criteria for euthanasia. Animals will not be euthanized because of breed.

Behavior

Animals with behavior problems such as chewing, inappropriate urination, separation anxiety, timidity, destructiveness, or lack of socialization will not be euthanized.

Space

Animals that would continue to make good adoption candidates but whose cage space is needed for other animals will not be euthanized.

Temperament

Animals that are extremely shy, timid, high-strung, stressed, or distressed who respond positively to efforts to rehabilitate will not be euthanized.

Kennel Stress

Animals with a marked change in behavior due to stress as a result of an extended stay at the shelter which results in unpredictable behavior, and do not respond to efforts to rehabilitate, or reasonable accommodations for rehabilitation cannot be made, and an appropriate foster home or rescue cannot be found, will be euthanized.

Medical – Untreatable or other Serious Condition

Animals with a terminal illness or injury, severe chronic illness, or other serious condition that do not respond positively to medical treatment and would otherwise suffer will be euthanized.

Aggressive Behavior

Animals that are showing serious and persistent, unprovoked signs of aggression, have attacked another animal or person, and reasonable accommodations for rehabilitation cannot be made, will be euthanized.

Feral or Unsocialized

Animals that have not and cannot be handled and do not adjust to the shelter setting with no hope of socialization will be euthanized.

Court Order

Animals that have been ordered for euthanasia at the direction of a judge, hearing officer, or other public official with such authority will be euthanized.

Method of Euthanasia

The injection of sodium pentobarbital, prepared specifically for use as a euthanasia product, administered by a local veterinarian, is the only authorized method of euthanasia. Documentation of euthanasia will be verified by the veterinarian and filed with the animal's shelter papers.

Method of Disposal

Great River Rescue will not provide animals, dead or alive, for dissection and/or vivisection, nor will euthanized animals be sold to biological supply companies. Animals will be buried or cremated and disposed of off shelter grounds.

This policy is to be used as a guideline to determine criteria for euthanasia. Each animal is treated individually and subject to the fiscal policy of Great River Rescue and the availability of resources.

Email is not an appropriate method for determining euthanasia of an animal. If the animal is not suffering, or does not pose a significant safety risk to handlers, a meeting should be held among staff and Board specified committee members to discuss the matter.

Animal shelter staff, board members, government officials, volunteers, and members of the public should never be allowed to question, berate, or harass employees making a decision to euthanize. If it is truly believed, that the policy has been violated, the matter will be addressed by the Executive Director, with full disclosure to the Board of Directors.

Final decision to euthanize lies with the Executive Director. Board consultation is not necessary in advance, however, full disclosure to the Board of Directors is required.
